THE NEW PARTY OF "SOUND MONEY.

Is It Another Phase of the Third Term Movement?

E. C. BENEDICT'S REMARKS.

Question Being Asked Whether the President's Bosom Friend Is Talking for Mr. Cleveland.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24. — The Morning
Journal has the following:

Mr. E. C. Benedict, who is well-known

Mr. E. C. Benedict, who is well-known throughout the country as a life-long Democrat, announces that unless the Democratic party comes out squarely in its platform in favor of the retirement of the greenback currency he will vote against it and in favor of the party which does. This he states to be the important issue this year, and that it is the principle upon which sound money men will stand together. The greenback he declares to be valueless in time of need as a circulating medium, and serves only as a pump to draw gold from the Treasury, which pump will again be in operation as soon as commercial conditions warrant, thus destroying all the good so far attained as the result of the syndicate work and compelling a repetition of the sacrifice by the Government and the disasters of last year. "Does the President coincide with your

BUSINESS BLOCK SOLD.

Birdseye & McCormack Buy St. Louis n Manfacturing Co.'s Plant.

The property of the St. Louis Manufact-uring Co., including its entire plant, oc-cupying a half block of ground fronting uring Co., including its entire plant, occupying a half block of ground fronting on Menard, Lafayette avenue and Soulard streets, has been sold.

This immense business was transferred to Charles Edmund Birdseye and Edward McCormack, comprising the local brokerage firm of Birdseye & McCormack. Both gentlemen are New Yorkers and came to the city a few years ago to "bank" on cotton.

They furnished money to the Cotton company on bonds issued in May, 1892, for the sum of $40,000. Six months ago the bonds fell due but the money was not forthcoming and notice of forced sale was made.

Although a forced sale, the price obtained is considered quite high and a number of local capitalists attended the sale held at the eastern entrance to the Court-house. Messrs. Birdseye and McGormack were evidently anxious to secure the property and scared the other bidders by offering $40,000 and then $50,000 for the property. The buildings on the site are well adapted for the cotton manufacturing business. They were constructed years ago at a cost of $150,000. The machinery in the structure is worth several thousand dollars more.

The new owners will spend $10,000 in remodeling the establishment.

The $1. Louis Trust Co. was the trustee of the property. Messrs. Birdseye and McCormack by this transaction are placed in entire control of the company.

READY TO BOYCOTT.

Demand of Illinois Grain Dealers Chicago Elevator Men.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Unless the demands of the Illinois Grain Dealers' Association are promptly acceded to by the elevator men of Chicago there is a bright prospect for the institution of a virtual boycot against the latter class that will affect their business to a serious extent. This is the kind of a gauntiet that was thrown down last evening at a joint meeting of committees from the Illinois Grain Dealers' Association. The former committee represented some 500 grain shippers throughout the State, and the latter was composed of members of the Board of Trade, commission merchants and shippers.

The meeting was arranged for the purpose of discussing the evils of the present system of weighing grain in vogue among elevator men and to devise means for its correction. It resulted in the unanimous conclusion that the interests of the grain dealers of the State demanded that disinterested weighmen should be on duty at each public elevator, and that such elevator companies as refused to adopt the suggestion should be discriminated against by all dealers making shipments to Chicago. The chairmen of both committees were outspoken in denouncing what they termed the outrageous methods of the elevator men, and each claimed to voice the sentiment of his association as being in favor of public weighmen.

VICTORIOUS TOILERS.

The Bituminous Coal Miners of Indiana Gain Their Point.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 24.—The bituminous coal miners of Indiana have gained their point after a suspension of operations of more than a month. A number of more than a month. ber of operators have agreed to pay last year's price of 60 cents. A few days ago several operators said they would abandon the united effort to get a contract with the men at 51 cents. The other operators then tried to organize to fight it out, but the effort has failed. The operators have not made contracts with the men at 60 cents for any length of time, but they say they will pay it only so long as they can sell coal on that basis. This is the first time in many years that a strike has been ended without signing contracts for all the State for the remainder of the year.

house of the Tradewater Coal and Coke Co.'s mine here. The shaft house, engine room, fan house, boiler room and tipple were a total loss. Falling brands set the walls of the shaft on fire and three cars loaded with coal caught fire, all of them and the coal being a total loss. The loss is fully $15,000.

The fire it is certain was the work of incendiaries, an ill feeling having existed on the part of the miners since the company closed down about five months ago, the miners not being paid off. Various threats all along have been made.

FIRE AND DEATH.

Air Line Junction, O., at the Mercy of the Flames.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 24.-Air Line Junction a suburb west of Toledo, this morning suf-fered by a fire which destroyed two small hotels and caused the loss of one life— Daniel McCarty, a saw-mill hand of White Daniel McCarty, a saw-mill hand of White Haven, Mich. The fire broke out in the rear of the Air Line Junction Hotel, a two-story frame. Patrolman Olms broke in the door and awakened the inmates. All escaped but McCarty, who was overcome by the smoke and taken out dead. The body was badly burned. The Central Hotel was so badly damaged as to need rebuilding and Delhanty's barber shop was destroyed. The total loss, including buildings and furniture, is $6,000, coyered by insurance.

OIL AFLAMB.

Total Destruction of Young's Refining Works at Boston.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 24.-Fire totally de BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 24.—Fire totally destroyed the oil refining works of Frank L. Young, situated at the foot of K street. South Boston, this morning. The establishment occupied the entire end of the Bay State wharf and consisted of half a dozen low wooden buildings, which, with four large tanks of oil, were an easy prey for the flames.

A large three-masted schooner was at anchor near the wharf, and was set on fire by the blazing embers. Owing to the low tide the vessel could not be towed out of danger and she was partily desiroyed. The total loss is estimated at $25,000; partly insured.

Dr. L. Thomas Reber's Secret Departure Into Married Life.

Thursday afternoon Dr. L. Thomas Reber, a popular physician of the South Side, eloped to St. Charles with Mrs. Rachel Woehrlin, a pretty young widow of the same neighborhood. They secured a marriage license and were married by Rev. A. H. Hughey, pastor of the Jefferson Street Presbyterian Church of St. Charles.

After the ceremony, which was parformed at Rev. Hughey's residence, Mr. and Mrs. Reber returned to St. Louis and resumed their ordinary occupations as if nothing unusual had happened. Friday and Saturday Dr. Reber appeared at his drug store, 2001 South Broadway, but did not mention the fact that he had been married. Even his father remained in complete ignorance of the matter.

Fifty-five coaches, carying over 4,000 excursionists, reached the Union Station from Des Moines, Io., and way points this morning. Four special trains over the Wabash brought the passengers. After the trains were in the "Midway" resembled an ethnological congress. All sizes, conditions and colors of humanity were in evidence. There were merchants, lawyers, mechanics and farmers, short, tall, broad and thin; men with whiskers and men without. There were young girls and matrons and women with babies.

The first look at the grand Union Station filled all with wonderment. Breathless and open-syed they rushed about trying to absorb the marvelous scene at once. The "Midway" astonished, but the interior amassed.

Fifteen minutes after the trains arrived the "Midway" was cleared, and everything around the Station resumed its normal condition.

the "Midway" was cleared, and everything around the Station resumed its normal condition.

The strangers dispersed to all parts of the city. Some were met by friends and taken charge of, some came down town, part took in the parks and gardens, while many went to the races and the bicycle tournament. To-night the summer gardens and theaters will be visited, and to-morrow will be spent in visiting the churches, parks, gardens and points of interest generally. Some driving will be indulged in, and perhaps an effort will be made to take a real in our surplus beer supply.

Thousands of dollars will be "turned loose" by the excursionists, so that they are thoroughly welcome to make their presence feit.

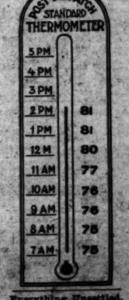

A Post-Dispatch reporter was present when the trains and tourists arrived and queried several excursionists on why so many had come so far for only a two days' trip. Many made the trip simply because the rate was so low, while others regarded it in the light of a picnic. Some social and political economists were with the party to take observations. "To learns what we can of your municipal administration, inspect your streets and public buildings, observe your sanitary conditions and finally to appland your energy and progress," is the way one gantleman put it.

ZUESCHEL WAS

He Admits This Much in the Job Buying Scandal.

KRIETEMEYER IMPLICATED.

Zueschel Claims That He Got Schrader's $50, but the Tenth Ward Alderman Knew Atl About It.

If all that John W. Zueschel says about F. H. Krietemeyer is true the latter must have run some stiff bargains with parties ing jobs on the pay-roll of the city.

emeyer is a member of the House of the from the Tenth Ward, and his was freely used by Zueschel in deals men who were willing to pay for Krietemeyer claims he did not aute the use of his name. Zueschel says d thorize the use of his name. Zueschel says he did.

Now Krietemeyer is red-hot and says he will sue Zueschel for slander. Zueschel only laughs and says. 'Let him sue; I can preve all I say, and when the proper time comes I will have a whole lot to say. I can produce witnesses to back up my statement, and it will open people's eyes.'

Krietemeyer told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he fired Zueschel out of his office Friday, and henceforth parties wanting him will have to look elsewhere. When told of this Zueschel said:

"The man is a — tool. He is talking wild. He gets drunk, and was so drunk yesterday he did not know what he was saying. That was a partnership business, and common sense will tell you that one partner eannot fire the other out of the business or the office; it takes two to agree on that. We quarreled over this job business and decided to dissolve partnership. Krietemeyer is in a bad hole and wants to get out. He denies that he got any of the money Schrader paid for a job on the Fire Denever is in a bad hole and wants to get out. The denies that he got any of the money chrader paid for a job on the Fire Deartment. I know better.

"That's all wrong about Chief Swingley sing mixed up in the deal. I never told nybody that he was to get $50 or that ny money was to be spent for a chamane supper for him. I don't want to say ny more until I settle up my business fairs with Krietemeyer. Then I will be ady to talk, and I have witnesses who ill swear to Krietemeyer's connection with the deal."

will swear to Krietemeyer's connection with the deal."

Zueschel discussed the matter from the standpoint of a man who had been made to bear the brunt of another man's misdoings. He made no effort to conceal the fact that bribes had been paid and accepted in city job deals or that he had taken the money, but he objected to being made the scapegoat for some one else.

"How do you get around the fact that the money was paid to you by Schrader and paid back to him by you?"

"I don't deny that but Schrader knows who got the money and why it was paid back, and so do others."

Zueschel mentioned the name of Charles Hull, an ex-freman, who wants to get back on the department, in a significant connection. It is said Hull paid 350 to Krietemeyer or Zueschel to "fix" matters for him. When seen by a Post-Dispatch reporter at his home, 2012 North Thirteenth street, Hull was prepared for the question. He said: "I am out for Hull and nobody else, and I am oid enough to take care of myself. I haven't lost anything and am not going to make any noise. I refuse to either deny or affirm the story. You can print whatever you please; I won't talk, and you can't pump me."

your please; pump me."

After sleeping on the matter Friday night, Schrader reached the conclusion that he was getting the worst of the deal all the way through and cast about for some plan to show the true inwardness of the matter and place the blame where it belonged. Accordingly he enlisted the services of a Post-Dispatch reporter and strategy was resorted to. The reporter assumed the name of Brown and represented himself as a railroad clerk who had loaned Schrader the $50 he had paid to Zueschel. It will be remembered that Schrader recovered $45 of his money, but failed to get $55.

was gone over. During the entire conversation Zueschel supposed the reporter to be the man who had loaned Schrader the $50 he deposited.

Zueschel declared to the reporter, in Schrader's presence, that Schrader was entirely innocent in the matter and that Krietmeyer was at the bottom of the whole trouble.

"It is ridiculous," he said, "for Kreitmeyer to pretend that he didn't know what this $50 was for. He sot me to ask Schrader for it, and latar asked me if Schrader had put it up. I told him that it was in the safe. He then said that he would fix Schrader O. K. When Schrader was not appointed he came to Kreitmeyer for his money and Kreitmeyer told him to go to the devil. He denied knowing anything of the transaction, but afterward admitted to Schrader, ini my presence, that he knew what the money was for and promised to Schrader, in my presence, that acted as go-between and feft responsible to Schrader."

The matter of the $5 still coming to

The matter of the $5 still coming to Schrader was then broached. Zueschel admitted that he owed it and promised the reporter (Brown) that he would stand personally good for the debt.

"I could pay it now," he said, "but I want to keep it back for a hold on Kreitmeyer. He owes me several hundred dollars which I want to get."

which I want to get."

Zeuschel took the reporter's address and promised to forward the 35 in a few days. This admission that money was still due Schrader is conclusive evidence that there was such a transaction.

Zeuschel also admitted that Schrader's money was put up on Kreitmeyer's assurance that he could get him a job on the Fire Department. Kreitmeyer, so Zeuschel says, took the money out of the safe and spent it and then let Schrader silde.

Zeuschel also told the reporter in Schrader's presence that when Kreitmeyer learned that the cat was out of the bag, he took everything that would tend to show his guilt out of the safe. Among this stuff was a lot of notes for small amounts that Kreitmeyer had extorted from various city employes for getting them a job. The plan was to have a man advance what he could and take his notes, payable monthly, for the balance. Such was the arrangement with Schrader.

In the pressnee of the reporter Schrader was a man aguaged a gurepolarised him, that once, but notes could be taken for the balance.

"I naturally wanted to know what this money was for," said Schrader, "and I asked John (meaning Zeuschel). He told me that Swingley was to get $100, the examining Bhysician $50, and the rest for incidentals, such as a champagne supper, etc.
Ain't that so, John?"
"And Zeuschel admitted that it was. According to Zeuschel, Krietemeyer had no regular price for securing a job, but charged whatever he thought he could he could get.

BARLOW WAS PLUCKY: . BARLIER THAN

But the Burglars Were Too Nimble and Escaped.

Thursday night, James Barlow, Jr., 18year-old son of Capta James Barlow of this Olive street, Escretary of the Confederate Home Association, returned home at 9 p. m., to find the other occupants of the house absent and two burglars in the place.
He had just passed into the front hall
when he heard one of the intruders prowling in the front room on the lower floor.
Hurrying upstairs for his revolver, he returned to find the fellow had deacended to the basement. He finally cornered him there and one of the young ladds having come in despatched her for a policeman.
Mesawhile, the young laddy had heard another intruder upstairs and, fear lending her speed, soon returned with an officer.
The entire house being dark the first mareader darted past Mr. Berlow plunged through the dining-room, with the young man in close pursuit, and succeeded in secreting himself in a dark corner.

By the time the policeman had summoned his partner and Mr. Barlow had secured a light, the fellow had emerged from the house, escapting over the back alley fence.
A thorough search of the premises weamade without result and the patrelmen departed.

Fifteen minutes later the occupants of the house, all of whom had meanwhile returned, were startled by a crash, as of falling furniture, and in a moment a dark form shot out of the basement door, underneath the front porch and disappeared around the house, also escaping over the back yard fence, young Barlow again in close pursuit. It is supposed the two men secreted themselves in the house, preparatory to making a tour of the premises when all were asleep. In falling over the furniture one of the men thrust his foot through the glass of a front window. Entrance was effected through a rear doop.

Healtents of the neighborhood are greatly exercised over the frequency of attempted burgiaries in that section. Several nights ago an attempt was made about 3 o'clock in the morning to break into the residence of Mrs. Cella Nicholls, still Olive street.
The burgiar escaped empty-handed.

The lovers of the "bike" are up in arms at poor Dr. Marks for expressing his coinion of their beloved machines. The Post-Dispatch has reseived several communications from indignant wheelmen. Here is one of them, and the writer digs into the doctor's ribs quite seriously:

To the Editor of The Post-Dispatch.

I see in this evening's Post-Dispatch that Dr. Heine Marks sees fit to arraign the wheel as unhealthy. Among other things he says: "Furthermore, with men, rupture, variocele, hydrocele follow, and worst of all, it destroys virility. No man who rides a bloycle to any extent can hope to be a father." Rata! Excuse me, my learned doctor, but I am a living example of the contrary. I am married now a little over ten years. For the past eight years I have ridden the bicycle steadily. First, the old-time ordinary, and now the safety, and I am the father of six children, five girls and one boy. Has the bicycle affected my "virility" any? Well, I guess not. Doctor, you'll have to find a better excuse than that.

appointed for only two years. The functions of the Commissioners differ in no material respect from those of the Recorder of Voters. They are jointly to exercise the same supervision over registration and to take general charge of the election machinery of the city as did the Recorder of Voters. The Commission is given a bipartisan character, in that the law provides that the Mayor's appointee "shall be a member of the leading party politically opposed to that which the Chairman, appointed by the Governor, belongs." The Commissioners are also empowered to employ as many clerks as the work of the office may demand, their compensation to be 13 a day "when actually employed." Rooms for the Commission have been designated in the new City Hall.

When the Commissioners are appointed they shall qualify before a Circuit Judge and give a bond each of 150,000. About the first thing to engage the attention of the Commissioners after they are organized for work will be the complete re-precincting of the city. The precincts will have to be so arranged so as to contain not less than 300 nor more than 400 voters. When the number falls below or goes above this limit a new arrangement will have to be made. Under the old system there are 187 voting precincts in the city, and under the new arrangement there are 187 voting precincts in the city, and under the new arrangement there will be about 400. The vote cast in the last Presidential election is to be the basis for this re-precincting, and the registration books then made up will have to be used by the Commissioners to guide them in the work.

But Human Curiosity Pursued It to the Bottom. Pedestrians along Chestnut street east of Pedestrians along Chestnut street east of Fourth street were much mystified Saturday morning by what appeared to be a broad trail of gray paint leading toward the river. The trail was nearly five feet broad and as artistically laid on as if done by a brush. A crowd followed it up until they discovered the cause two blocks away. The trail emanated from a wagon that was hauling the refuse from the Planters' Hotel artesian wells. The well has been dug for 300 feet through solid limestone rock, which mixed with water comes up in a paint-like form. The wagon, in going down the hill, had leaked from the front end all over the mules, the driver and the seat until the wagon was emptted.

FILLING OF THE RIVER.

Street Cleaning Contractors Daily Vio-lating the Law.

Pacific and Iron Mountain railway yards the past three months, were arrested Friday Right and early Saturday morning. Special Officer Patrick Laily of the Missouri believes that in their arrest a dangerous gang has been broken up.

Those under arrest are Frank Schemel, George Weber, John Miller, alias "Nigger:"
Tom Breen and Jack and Andrew Post. None are over Il years of age. All but Miller had in their possession articles supposed to have been stolen from freight-cars at various times. Their arrest was encompassed by Laily and Detectives Viehle and Tebeau, with the assistance of a little daughter of a second-hand dealer on the Levee, where an attempt had been made to dispose of the goods. She knew the men and pointed them out to the officers.

Saturday warrants for burgiary and larceny were issued against the Post brothers. The gang that has infested the railroad yards have been very expert, introducing an innovation in their line. Their habit has been to board moving freight trains, break the seal of the car and throw stuff out on the track, alighting with the train still in motion and returning to the plunder.

The booty secured foots up a large aggregate. On Thursday night $500 worth of goods was stolen from a oar at Seventh and Poplar streets.

of Effie Hastings.

Effie Hastings, a 14-year-old colored girliving at 213 Bouth Main street, told Judge Peabody a revolting story about John Jackson, also colored, in the police court Friday. Thursday Afternoon the girl met Jackson on the Levee and began screaming. She also picked up a stone and struck him in the mouth. When an officer appeared Effie said that Jackson had made an indecent proposal to her. She also claimed that he had assaulted her last year. Jackson was arrested and Effic repeated her story in the police court. She said her mother had seen the man frequently, but this Mrs. Hastings denied.

Judge Peabody told Effic that she was a female Ananias and discharged Jackson.

WELCOME NEWS.

The settlement of the carpet weavers' strike at the several weaving points in Pennsylvania Friday is welcome news to St. Louis jobbing carpet houses. Said Mr. Sam M. Kennard of the J. Kennard Carpet Co. to x Post-Dispatch reporter:

"We had our men out during the early spring and up to a short time ago and our sales of carpets were unusually heavy. When the strike came, six weeks ago, we were shipping as fast as possible and our stock began to run low. For six weeks we have not received a rolt of ingrain goods, consequently you can see that we were much inconvenienced. The mills are now short from 30,000 to 40,000 rolls of ingrain carpeting and I feel safe in the prediction that they will make an advance in price as soon as they fill the orders already on their books." The settlement of the carpet weavers'

TROUBLES OF THE ROGERS IN COURT.

The Judge Decides the Girl's Father Is Her Next Friend.

Rogers Still Persists That His Wife Loves Him, but She Says She Doesn't and Did Only One Day.

The question of who is a wife's next friend when the wife is under age is an interesting legal problem that was raised in Justice Cline's court Saturday morning. It came up when the case of Dr. H. M. Rogers was called. The case involved a trunk belonging to the doctor's young wife, which had been replevined by the latter, through her father, Mr. McMillan, as her next friend.

Dr. Rogers contended that the gir's marriage vows released her from the guardianship of her parents, and that her father marriage vows released her from the guardianship of her parents, and that her father could not sue in her behalf. Jeff Pollard represented him, and argued that the Supreme Court had already decided the point. It was shown, however, that when the young wife left her husband she went to her father and that whatever relief she got would have to come through aim. Judge Cline held that had the girl gone to the house of a third party the father could not sue, but since she had left her husband for her parents she could seek relief through her father.

The question of increased bond was then raised and as McMillan was not prepared to furnish it the case went over till Tuesday.

Dr. Rogers and his girl wife were both day.

Dr. Rogers and his girl wife were both in court. They did not speak. Dr. Rogers says she still loves him, but her parents have exercised undue influence over her and she is afraid to say so. The case grows out of the elopement of Dr. Rogers, a man about 50, with Miss McMillan, a 11-year-old girl living at 4351 Vista avenue. They lived together only a few weeks, quarreled and separated.

They lived together only a few weeks, quarreled and separated.

"If Dr. Rogers thinks I love him he is a mistaken man," said the girl wife to a Post-Dispatch reporter after the case went over. "I loved him just one day. After that he began to abuse and curse me and the neighbors all wondered how I stood it as long as I did. After we were married we boarded for a few days, but he was not even good to me then.

"When we went to housekeeping, as he called it, he left me penned up in one room, and an office room at that. He would not allow me to open the shutters or even turn the blinds through all the hot weather, and if I went out in the back yard he cursed me for that. If he says I put my arms around his neck and kissed him the day he left he tells an untruth. I had no love for him then and I have none now.

"It is his own fault. If he had treated me as a man should treat his wife there would have been no trouble."

"He had me in an awkward position and I made up my mind to stand his abuse to avoid disgrace. I had left home of my own accord and I did not like to go back. He knew that and took advantage of me. When he refused to allow me to visit my parents I said nothing and when he cursed me I stood even that, but when he made me cook the meals of the salooukeeper across the way, with whom he spent the greater part of his time, I rebelled.

"On the afternoon of the day we separated on the afternoon of the day we separated he cursed and abused me and told me to take my trunk and go home. When he found I was going he refused to allow my brother to take my trunk.

"He says religion is at the bottom of the trouble. Fr. Butler knew nothing of our arrangements or our troubles and was in no way connected with either.

According to Mrs. Rogers' story the doctor is as gay a Lothario as ever figured in a trial in St. Louis. She chaged that the very room in which they lived was furnished by a Mrs. Cole, with whom the doctor had lived for three years. And Mrs. Cole was in evidence to back up the young wife's story. She said Dr. Rogers lived with her and had introduced her as his wife. She let him have $300, which she has been unable to get back, besides money she advanced him for clothes. She left him March 17 last.

The telephone rang and Jim answered it. The news came that Bush was arrested. Bush is Jim's colored porter, but Abe wot not that it was so. He heard Cronin say: "What's that? You say Bush is arrested!" and he jumped to the conclusion that it was his friend Buify conclusion that it was his friend Bulfy Busch.

"All right, I'll come and bail him out," were Cronin's parting words into the telephone. Abe saw his chance to do a good turn by his friend Busch, a man with simoleons to throw at the birds.

"T'll go and bail him out," he remarked monchalantly.

"Not on your water meter," replied Jim, in playful reference to Abe's $90 a month job.
"Bay, Jim, Busch is a friend of mine; let ma go on his bond and I'll open a bottle of wins."
Jim understood the delusion Abe was laboring under, so he proceeded to have fun with him. He insisted on enjoying the distinguished honor of balling Mr. Busch out himself, until by degrees Abe offered to buy three bottles of wine. Then Jim relented, as a special favor to his friend Abe, conditioned that he should accompany him. The wine was paid for and drank, Abe hired a carriage and the start for the Four Courts was made in great shape. They had to pass by Jim's other saloon at Tweifth and Walnut, and a stop was made. Abe was all impatience to get his friend Busch out of durance vile, but Jim said carelessly that half an hour in the holdover wouldn't make much difference, and Abe could only buy haste by buying three more bottles of "extra dry."
When the party arrived at Central Station Abe led the way in. Those who know Abe's style can imagine how he approached the desk, as though he owned the Four Courts and several surrounding blocks.
"You have got Busch here?" he said tentatively.
Jim tipped the Sergeant the wink and he

"You have got Busch here?" he said tentatively.

Jim tipped the Sergeant the wink and he answered affirmatively.

"Well, he's my friend and I want to get him out no matter what it costs—320, 520, 11,000, it's all the same to me," said Abe, with a lofty wave of his hand.

The Sergeant made out the bond, and then he went back to get the prisoner so that he could sign the bond jointly with his bondsman. He returned with a coal-black negro. Jim nearly suffered apoplexy from suppressed laughter, and Abe nearly had a fit. He refused to sign the bond, though, and Cronin did the honors. Abe was already $18 out on the play, and of course he had to buy several more bottles to keep the thing quiet.

DUTY OF THE REGISTER. To Issue Permits to Drive Cattle on the Streets.

In investigating by what authority cattle are driven through the streets, Mayor Walbridge discovered that no officer, State or municipal, has the right to issue permits for that purpose except the City Register.

The Mayor wrote Chief of Police Harrigan to see that the ordinance prohibiting the driving of cattle without a proper permit was rigorously enforced in view of the outbreak of Texas fever. He also wrote Register Pocock instructing him to issue no permit without the approval of the Board of Health.

Then the singular fact developed that during Mr. Pocock's whole term no one has ever applied for a permit, and he did not know it was one of the prerogatives of his office to issue them. All these years the driving of cattle through the streets has been done without a legal permit. Permits have been issued by a Cattle Inspector without shadow of authority.

HER SISTER'S MURDER.

The Charge of Which Mrs. Lola Perkins

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 24.—The

his presence as to how the accident occurred.

She was confused in her replies, being under the influence of an opiate. She said the first intimation she had of danger was when she woke up and found the bed in formes. She did not know whether the lamp had exploded or whether she had overturned it. From this evidence it is certain that the State expects to combat the antemortem statement which the defense claims will clear Mrs. Perkins.

The State refuses absolutely to say what the evidence against the imprisoned woman is, but it is known that she is charged with impersonating her sister in obtaining the insurance policies, and with forging her sister's signature to the documents. It is also suspected that the two women were not really staters.

ter's signature to the documents. It is also suspected that the two women were not really staters.

Mrs. Perkins was interviewed this morning and told a romantic story of their lives. She claimed they were of native Spanish birth and had come from Madrid to Tampa, Fla., in childhood. They were educated in a convent and there she married Hal Perkins, a printer, now dead. Bhe asserts her entire innocence and declares that they both took Mrs insurance for the benefit of each other, although her policy has not yet been allowed.

She was soliciting for the Security Mutual Life of New York, and they took out the insurance to save the commission and were to assign the policies to each other. She admitted that she had already made two payments on Mrs. Hawkins' policy. She stoutly maintained her innocence.

Aristocratic English Names.

From the Buffalo Courier.

Some of the names among the upper ten in English society look as if they had been taken from playbills, though of course the assumption is that playwrights depend, as Dickens did, on directories and peerages for the names of their characters. Among the persons of high degree at a recent wedding in London were Lady Lurgan, Lady Feo Sturt, Mrs. Willie Grenfell, Dorothy Lady Cantelupe, Lady Eden, Mrs. Atta Hay, and Lady Kathleen Cuffe. With such names as these glistening in the columns of society journals the invention of odd cognomens for novels and plays is a sheer waste of time and brains. From the Buffalo Courier.

IOWA IN TOWN.

The Post-Dispatch extends a cordial welcome to the 4,000 lowans who are in the city to-day. They ought not to be strangers, since Iowa is equally near to Missouri with Kansas, Arkansas and IIlineis, but heretofore they have bought goods of Chiengo and in other respects emptied their cornucopias in the lap of the city by the lake.

But if there are any two States in the Union that should have twin interests they are those of Iowa and Missouri. The magnificent crops of both States are identical in form and substance, so far as the chief cereals are concerned. They have the common ties of pioneer sufferings and parallel growth, and the fact that they are not always one in politics differences which exist to-day in party from Iowa. A NUGGET.

In 1854 silver was worth more in metal than it was in coin, compared with gold, and by act of Congress the value of fractional silver coin was reduced about per cent. As coinage was free, standard silver dollars, legal tender, worth as metal 5 per cent more than their value as coin, were not wanted. Therefore the coinage ceased, and to supply their place one dollar gold pieces were coined of the cheaper metal.

The act of 1873 discontinued the coinage of standard dollars, both gold and silver. At that time coin of either metal was not used as money in the United States, and resumption of it was not expected or provided for by law until

A DUMPING EXCHANGE.

In revoking the permits allowing city contractors to dump waste earth in the river, the Harbor Commissioner leaves the contractors in a hole. They must duty of the city to provide a place for them to dump all earth they dig in making excavations for city work.

This question of dumping is a continual puzzle, both to city contractors and builders on private work who have excavations to make. The sign "No Dumping Allowed" confronts them on nearly every vacant lot, and frequently they are at their wite' end to know what to do with the waste material dug from cellars and other places. Now that the river is absolutely shut off from the dump car man, he will speedily become an object of pity as he wanders about with his unwelcome load, dodging the watchful eye of vacant lot owners in order to find a spot where he may deposit a heap of nother earth.

Why not solve the question by estabishing a dumping exchange, or several if them? Lots in the outskirts of the of them? Lots in the outskirts of the city are of such irregular grades that it is pretty certain that where one man has to level down his neighbor has to level up. A builds a house, and in doing so excavates a cellar His lot is already above grade, and he would fain deposit the extra earth on B's adjoining lot. But B don't want to build yet, or is away in Europa. Hence A must cart is away in Europa. Hence A must cart off the waste earth to the utmost ends of the city. After a while B thinks he will build, and in order to bring his lot up to level finds he must epend good money for a number of loads of earth that he might have had from A.

Suppose a centrally located vacant lot nation for Governor in Kentucky. Gen.

rented by the city, on wh When B wished to fill in he would know where to go for earth, and the city need only charge, both parties just enough to pay the rent. When that particular lot used as a dumping exchange was wanted for building purposes, another or others could he rented.

Let us have a dumping exchange.

WHAT IT MEARS.

There is no longer any disguise of the fact that the programme of the "sound money Democrats," especially in the West and South, is to control the Democratic party in the interest of the single gold standard, or to defeat it if they cannot control it. This programme applies not only to the national campaign, but to the contests in the several States. In Nebraska they have formally bolted and called a separate State convention. In Kentucky they will bolt, or if fear of the consequence of bolting deters them, they will "knife the ticket."

The New York Evening Post is the leading journalistic exponent of gold There is no longer any disguise of the leading journalistic exponent of gold monometallism. In discussing the Ken-tucky situation it says: "The success of the Democratic canvass is no longer to be desired on national grounds, now that it would be regarded as a triumph for the silverites, while so far as State interests are concerned, there is no doubt that the general our hauling which would follow the inauguration of a Republican Governor would be the best thing for the commonwealth."

Reviewing recent campaigns in Kentucky it release out that Democratic tucky, it points out that Democratic strength has been steadily declining, until in 1894 the Democratic candidates for Congress led the Republican by only 160,350 votes as against 153,022 votes. Taking these figures as a basis, it estimates that "if about 20,000 of the Democrats who voted for Cleveland on a sound noney platform in 1892 should vote in 182 for the only sound money candidate now running, Bradley, the Republican candidate, will be elected." It hopes that the "sound money Democrats"

The mask has fallen off. This year in Kentucky and Nebraska, and next year in other Western and Southern States, the Democrats must beat the Republic-ans and their allies, the "sound money Democrats" in order to win.

THE PROPAGANDA OF PEACE.

The annual convention of the National Peace Union at Mystic, Conn., on Aug. 21 was no doubt voted by those present quite a success. Something like 10,000 persons were gathered together and listened to a number of discourses. Yet it is doubtful if the object of the Peace Union was advanced one step by the convention.

This National Peace Union has been in existence for some time and is now al-lied with similar societies in Europe. At the recent convention in New York, Boston and Philadelphia were well represented among the speakers, and no doubt their addresses were edifying, but It is encouraging, therefore, to find the affair was provincial and lacked the West and the South were represented

Besides being too narrow in its scope, the National Peace Union and its coworkers in Europe are strangely blind as to the best weapons with which to wage their fight against the spirit of war and world; a city of beautiful homes and conquest. They issue pamphlets and hold splendid business edifices, and a city meetings. They get up petitions and noted for its hospitality and generous treatment of the stranger within its They might take a lesson from the Single Tax people, who, by a wonderfully the newspapers all over the country, have made such strides in spreading their principles that the historian will chronicle their growth as one of the

A Kentucky Judas.

A Kentucky Judas.
From the Mexico Intelligencer.
Judge W. M. Beckner of Kentucky while recently in St. Louis gave the Republic an interview in which he exposed his ignorance of Missouri politics by saying that the Pertle Springs Convention was composed of office holders. The truth is there was not a dozen office holders all told in the more than 500 delegates who constituted the Pertle Springs Convention. Judge Beckner was Chairman of the Kentucky State Convention and was elected to that position by the friends of Blackburn and Hardin. He was known to be a "sound money" man, but the friends of silver had assurances that they would be treated fairly. The Chairman appoints the members at large on the Resolutions Committee, and it was understood that Senator Lindsay, who was beaten for delegate from his own county, beaten for delegate from his own county, should represent the "sound money" side and Senator Blackburn the silver forces. Beckner appointed Lindsay but broke faith with the men who elected him and refused to appoint Blackburn. Afterwards, in dis-cussing the matter, Senator Blackburn said he had seen a number of pictures of Judas Iscariot and that no two of them looked alike, but all looked like Beckner.

A BIT OF HISTORY.

My Dear Sir: I d

consequences Cleveland was defeated and Hill elected.

When Hill and Cleveland were candidates, a little over two years ago, I was in New York, and can certify that Cleveland had not a corporal's guard of political friends in the State. Hill brought on an early convention, and, esising that as a pretext, Cleveland erected an organization outside of the party, through Fairchild and others, combined with the Republicans, and did his best to wreck the organization of the Democratic party in the Empire State.

The fact is that Cleveland has not, and has never had, the slightest feeling of fidelity or sense of obligation to the Democratic party. The opinion of its public men, the pronoduncements of its platforms, the will of its majorities in Congress, its traditions, and its time-honored principles mean no its majorities in Congress, its traditions, and its time-honored principles mean no more to him than the ten commandments mean to a pirate at sea. His doctrine that "Public Office is a Public Trust" was good enough to keep Democrats out of office, but it never kept a scoundrel out of place and power, and when he undertook to force upon a free silver Congress the repeal of the Bland purchasing clause in the Sherman bill he sold the offices of the Government openly and without shame, in return for bill he sold the effices of the Government openly and without shame, in return for votes by members of Congress that betrayed their constituencies. And he ousted the Senators and Representatives from this State of their legitimate influence in the disposal of the public patronage because they refused to vote in opposition to the well known wishes of nine-tenths of the men, women and children of the Democratic party of this State.

When he organized his crasy-quart Cabi net, it was plain that Gresham was not a Democrat, Carlisle not a financier, Olney Democrat, Carlisle not a financier, Olney not a man of the people, Lamont a mere member of his kitchen cabinet, and the Cabinet not representative of the party. He has not left the Democratic party a principle which it can call its own, nor a public man whom he could destroy. It is not Hill's fault that the party has been split in New York, Cleveland from the first has attempted to drive him out of the party, and with a weaker man would have me. has attempted to drive him out of the party, and with a weaker man would have succeeded. It was to Hendricks' glittering armor and flashing battle ax that the Democracy looked for victory in Indiana on Cleveland's first election, but when he became Vice-President Cleveland killed him with coldness, mestaness, suspicion and estracism. Randall told me that he threw the Pennsylvania delegation to Cleveland on Pennsylvania delegation to Cleveland on his first nomination under a direct promise that he would not interfere with the tariff. He put up Bill Scott with his millions to destroy Randall in Pennsylvania, and gave him all the Federal patronage; ostracised Randall, and killed him, for he died of broken heart. When Morrison was fighting for tariff reform in the House, I know that he could not get Cleveland to pull a pound's weight to assist him. When Morrison tied the Legislature with Logan, Cleveland by moving his finger could have elected him and made a Democratic Senator, And Morrison made three trips to Washington, but could not get him to move his finger. He did not want Morrison in the way. But when Morrison was shelved on the Inter-

form and branded it as his own, and rode it to death, for his ill-advised message on the eve of the election lost the party the control of the country.
This is what Cleveland is—a Corsair. On This is what Cleveland is—a Corsair. On every question, except a leaning toward tariff reform, growing weaker every day, he is a Republican and not a Democrat. In nominating and electing him we have sold our birthright for a mess of pottage, and the pottage has turned sour in the pot. If, instead of being in power during the six years of Cleveland's administration, we had been like the Children of Israel in the wilderness, fighting for principle and waging war against an entreuched enemy, the party would have been better off to-day, and the country would have been better off, to-day.

and the country would have been better off to-day.

In fact, the party must shake off Cleveland and Clevelandism or it will die the death of a dog, adoring everything it previously abherred, and abhorring everything it previously adored. In this State to-day his henchmen and officeholders are preparing to play the same game that he has played in New York, that he is playing in Kentucky, and that he and they will play wherever it is to their personal interest to put a knife under the fifth rib of Democracy.

to put a knife under the fifth rib of Democracy.

If the Democracy of this State expects to live, it must grasp the assassin's hand while the dagger is half drawn. It must stamp into the earth those who raise the flag of rebellion, whenever and wherever they appear. It must stamp quick and hard and effectually upon those who seek, in defiance of the known and loudly proclaimed wishes expressed through the regular channels of 50 per cent. of the Democrats of this State, to make the party "Cossack," as some of them have already made it "Cossack," when in places of power. Harry Vaughn drew a 100 plaster from Manager Buck Ewing the other day for failure to bunt when he was instructed to do so. Harry Vaughn drew a $100 plaster from Manager Buck Ewing the other day for failure to bunt when he was instructed to do so.

Rid McGill will not pitch again this season on account of the injuries to his leg received in the second game of the first series at Brooklyn.

It is gratifying to observe how steadily Cy Young is winning games for Cleveland. Young works hard, takes care of himself and does not indulge in spress nor brawls.

Selbach of Washington put a bail over the left field fence in Brooklyn. Only those who have seen the grounds at Eastern Park can appreviate the feat. It is probably the longest hit made this season.

"Parson" Nicholson, formerly with the Browns, is one of the unluddest players in the business. He met with an injury in Detroit the other day that will lay him up for the balance of the season.

Charley Esper is said to have hit only two batters with pitched balis this season.

Dallas has the best short stop in the Texas-Southern League in Charley Sastian, the ex-Philadelphia League team player.

Manager Hugh Nichol has made nimeelf unpopular in Rockford, Ill., by releasing second baseman Harry Truby to the Chicago club.

Charley Levis, who formerly managed the Memphis Southern League team, is now an umpire in the Wastern Association.

It is reported from Cincinnati that the club there has made more money this scason than in any year since the formation of the twelve-club league.

Pink Hawley has pitched in all the white-wash games that the Pirates have played this scason. He was three times white-wash games that the Pirates have played the score of 50 to 17. The feautre of the game was the batting of the Davinson's second baseman, A. Gorman, who made five home runs, seven three-baggers, six two-baggers and several singles.

Chinns, and an offer of $3,000 for their release was refused by the owners of the Kentucky stable.

Forget was run up $300 over her entered selling price in the last race, and her owner thought it was anything but fair treatment, considering the fact that Forget, who is only a 2-year-old, had packed her regular weight and beaten out a field of fair classed older horses. Forget's owner certainly did show game sportsmanship in starting his filly against such older horses as Disturbance, Frances Pope, Vigor, Ashland and Pelleas, but he knew how good she was, no doubt, and was willing to take a chance, Loyal Princess, another 1-year-old owned by the St. Louis horseman, F. T. Bishop, ran second to Forget, who was giving her eight pounds. Forget went to the post a heavily backed first choice.

Track Talk.

Starter Pettingill thinks Ben Brush would have a great chance if he was eligible to start in the Futurity.

"Dutch" Neil, the pugliist, has always been a turf fancier, and he is a regular visitor to the Fair Grounds.

The handicappers had Moderocio figured to beat Madeline, but the latter ran over the top of her.

Oakley will have a nineteen days' fall meeting, opening Sept. 14 and ending Oct.

The programme includes ten stake events.
There is a match race on for next week between the 2-year-olds Sir Vassar 118 and Kingsione & at six furlongs.

Bylvia is named after a young daughter of one of Barney Schreiber's San Francisco friends. Schreiber's two sisters were at the track Friday.

The Chinn's won two purses at Saratoga Briday with Jim Flood and Ingomar. Kit Chinn placed a swell commission by wire at Covington and got his money on at 6 to & To-day's programme is the best offered at the Fair Grounds this week and the stendance will show that the local turfites know how to appreciate a good thing when they get the chance.

The Saratoga and Aqueduct meetings closed Friday and the Sheepshead Bay and Louisville meetings will commence this afternoon. Prime Minister is carded to start in the first race at Louisville against such good ones as Br. Maxim, Laurents, Figaro and Selika.

The imported mare Capability, dam of Lissak, is now in foal to Bir Dixon.

Tony Hamilton will ride Feed O'Day for the Messry. Keene in the Futurity stakes.

Frank McCabe, Phil Dwars trainer, thinks that if Handspring is beaten in the Futurity and are rangements for a 25,00 match race between John R. Gentry and Joe Patchen, te take place Sept. S.

The feature of the Beleville Pair, which commences Sept. 4, will be a pacing race between Joe Porter and Tayuka for a purse of fi.000.

Ships in Moji Harbor Dragged Loose With Great Loss of Life. PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 24.—The Altmore the Portland-China Line steamers arrived here last night. Further particulars are brought by Capt. Watson concerning the terrific typhoon, encountered on July 23 and 24 by the Andivinedna, the Dawson Hill and Oresia.

24 by the Andivinedna, the Dawson Hill and Orelia.

The storm began on the morning of the 23d and lasted until the night of the 24th. Nearly every ship in the harbor of Moji was dragged from its fastenings and a great amount of damage was done along the coast. Nearly 100 trading junks were driven ashore and wrecked and there was great loss of life.

At 5 p. m. on the 24th the typhoon had spent itself, the wind was dying away entirely, but leaving a dangerously high sea running. At 8 p. m. the wind rose again, changing from east northeast to north northwest with terrific force, accompanied by fearful squalls and rain. At midnight the typhoon had subsided, after which, said Capt. Watson, was one of the worst storms ever experienced in a life time on the China seas.

HEAVY BUT GRATEFUL DOWNPOUR. CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 24.—Reports of last night's storm show it extended over, a wide area. Though it had its origin in this part of the country, it extended its cooling influence all over the southwestern section of the country. Even the sikali deserts of New Mexico were sprinkled more liberally than they have been in a quarter ofta century. Colorado, Nebraska, the Dakotas, a section of Montans that has been blistering since May, and even two-thirds of the State of Kansas received the grateful downpour of this remarkable storm.

THE CABLE TO HAWAII. Col. Spalding Here to Call on the Cabi-

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 24.-Col. Z. S. Spalding, who recently received a franchise from the Hawalian Government to lay a cable from Honolulu to this city, will leave for Washington to-night to secure the co-operation of this Government in the undertaking. Col. Spalding will call upon the Cabinet officers with a view to clearing the way for a presentation of his plans and demands to Congress in December next. In order to float successfully the enterprise he calculates that nearly 4,000,000 will be required and that a yearly income of $400,000 will be necessary to keep it going. The 3,000,000 is to provide all the stations, equipments, cables, rights of way, cable ship and working capital.

Toward the income the Hawalian Government has pledged $40,000 a year for twenty years. Col. Spalding expects to be able to manufacture and lay the cable within eighteen months from the time of placing the order for it. chise from the Hawaiian Government to

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—No stock is taken here in the story that a British is taken here in the story that a British engineering party is surveying a boundary line between Alaska and British Columbia, with a view to securing to Great British several of the fine harbors of the Alexander Archipeigo.

Said Gen. Durfield, the head of the United States. Coast and Geodetic Survey: "The fuss they are making over this section is simply smoke to cover their real object, which is to locate within their own territory the gold mining district of the Yukon. The British contend it lies to the east of the Idist meridian, and therefore in British Columbia. From a survey pecently made by United States engineers we are confident that the gold district is west of the Idist meridian, that it is exclusively in United States ferritory."

The defendant has been a fugitive from justice since the day of the killing, on July 5, 1850, until last spring he surprindered himself to the authorities in the State of Louisiana and was brought here for trial. He says the reason he gave himself up was because he was continually hounded.

FAST FLYERS. Carrier Pigeon Broke the Western Flying Record.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 24.-Two of the carrier pigeons owned by the Badger Flying Club and liberated at Scotland, S. D., a distance of 500 miles from this city, have returned home. One of the pigeons covered the distance in exactly twenty-four hours and fifty-five minutes, or an average speed of 582.2 yards a minute. This is counted fast time, considering that the pigeon was out over night. It is said to be the fastest time ever made west of Philadelphia.
